

Assess your role in supporting teachers' Self-Worth.
Score yourself on the 5-point scale and provide an example for each prompt.

.....

1. I create a trusting environment for the teachers I coach.

What specific actions do you take to develop trust?

2. I respect the different experiences and perspectives of the teachers I coach.

Provide an example of how you do this.

3. I listen to and learn from the teachers I coach.

What is something you recently learned from a teacher you coach?

4. I spend time getting to know individual teachers' strengths.

How do you learn their strengths?

5. Teachers feel respected by me.

How do you know when teachers feel respected?

INSTRUCTIONAL COACHES SELF-ASSESSMENT

1. Teachers feel confident sharing their concerns with me.

How do you build teachers' confidence?

-
2. I create regular opportunities for teachers to learn from each other.

What specific opportunities exist for teachers to share their ideas with one another?

-
3. I share the struggles I experienced as a classroom teacher.

How do you help teachers navigate the struggles they experience?

-
4. I am open and honest with the teachers I coach.

How do you provide opportunities for teachers to share their honest feedback?

-
5. Teachers know I do not have favorites.

How do you ensure you remain fair and unbiased?

INSTRUCTIONAL COACHES SELF-ASSESSMENT

1. Teachers know I will support them rather than judge their struggles.

How do you keep judgements in check as you support teachers?

-
2. I celebrate teacher successes.

Provide an example of how you celebrate success.

-
3. I recognize when teachers are overwhelmed.

How do you support teachers when they feel demoralized?

-
4. I realize when teachers are trying their best.

How do you support teachers when they are doing everything they can, but are still struggling?

-
5. Teachers know I believe in them.

How do you show teachers you respect and admire them?